MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT AND CHANCELLOR

Welcome to the 19th Annual Gala on the Bluff, the principal fundraiser and support arm of the College of Business at Southern University and A & M College. Your presence this evening is indicative of your commitment to Southern University and our College of Business. Each year, this gathering serves as a forum where old acquaintances and friendships can be renewed, new ones formed, and our dedication and loyalty to the University can be reinforced. It is my fervent hope that you will continue to be an integral supporter of this event for many years to come.

Your generous support greatly enhances the programs and services we offer our business students and scholars who study, teach, and conduct research on the Bluffs of the mighty Mississippi River. By investing in them, you empower a new cadre of Southern University graduates who can competently conduct business from Wall Street to Main Street all across the globe. Your assistance helps the College of Business bring into our nation's economy men and women equipped with the necessary business acumen to succeed at any level. We do so while remaining responsive to the unique and historic mission of our great institution -- Southern University.

Your presence at tonight's festivities adds immensely to the camaraderie that is shared between the members of the Jaguar Nation. I invite you to let your passion for Dear ole Southern unite with your passion for good food, quality friendships and great music to make this evening special! Southern University and A & M College is the aggregate of its component parts – students, scholars, staff, alumni, supporters, and friends! As President/Chancellor, I thank each of you in your various roles for the contributions you make to the success of this great institution of higher learning.

Wishing you peace and blessings.

Yours,

MESSAGE FROM CHAIR OF THE ADVISORY COUNCIL

Welcome to the 19th Annual Gala on the Bluff. On behalf of the College of Business Advisory Council, I would like to thank you for your continued support and patronage of the Gala on the Bluff, which provides funding to benefit the College of Business at Southern University and A&M College. Your continued support demonstrates a profound commitment to education and a willingness to support tomorrow's global leaders. The Advisory Council is appreciative of our steering committee, host committee, and volunteers who work endless hours to ensure the success of the Gala, each year. My sincere gratitude is extended to sponsors of the 2021 Gala on the Bluff, who are prominently acknowledged in this Gala Program Booklet, during the sponsor recognition portion of tonight's festivities and with live sponsor interviews with our longtime supporter- Brian Hertzock of Hertzock Entertainment Films.

Over the past eighteen years, the Gala has generated more than $1,000,000 in funds to support the awarding of scholarships to our students along with enabling our students and faculty to participate in a number of developmental opportunities, both domestic and abroad. As envisioned by the Advisory Council, Gala on the Bluff is one of the most anticipated gatherings of the year. The Gala is a social magnet that eclipses racial and economic barriers to draw a diverse group of people together to celebrate great music and enjoy wonderful food as they support scholarships for students and educational programing needs.

Your support truly makes a tremendous difference in the lives of our students, faculty, staff and most importantly the community we serve. Thank you for supporting the 19th Annual Gala on the Bluff and I look forward to your participation next year.

Sincerely,

Sharon Hill

GREETINGS

SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY AND A&M COLLEGE

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

On behalf of the College of Business at Southern University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, we would like to thank you for supporting this wonderful program. In the midst of this pandemic, you still chose to make an investment in our students, affirming your commitment to creating the next generation of leaders. Words cannot fully express my gratitude for your generosity. Tonight we will come together for a time of celebration, inspiration, transformation, and community. During this event, we will recognize student scholars, sponsors, and dynamic individuals who have made positive contributions that have engaged, mobilized, and provided inspiration through their efforts. I especially thank our sponsors, both major and in-kind, whose support was tremendous and indispensable in establishing and maintaining this activity as a signature fundraiser for the College. The Gala on the Bluff Host Committee has been and continues to be a great asset in making the "Gala" the premier activity it has become during our homecoming. Thank you for all that you do. In addition, let me send a huge thank you to the Advisory Council for investing in extraordinary ways to provide support to the College of Business, our students, and support for educational programming needs. This year's Gala has special relevance, as scholarship support to our students is critical to the success in developing great academic and professional outcomes for our stakeholders.

As you enjoy the sights and sounds of the nationally and internationally known entertainers and personalities, you can be justifiably proud that you are investing in tomorrow's business and community leaders. Recipients of the Gala Scholarships are evidence of the success that we can achieve when the community, businesses and academia work in partnership to achieve a common goal. The new realities in business call for greater cooperation between colleges, business and government in order to achieve high levels of economic performance. We need your help in preparing our students, faculty and administration for the global economy so that we can help propel this city, state and nation to new and unexplored heights.

We shall always be grateful for your generosity and we know that you will have a wonderful time at 2021 Gala on the Bluff Scholarship Fundraiser. Enjoy the evening.

Sincerely,

Donald R. Andrews

HONOREES

CAROL D. POWELL LEXING

When Carol Powell Lexing began her career as an attorney, she knew she wanted to help people. But she had no way of knowing that the journey she was embarking on would lead her to become one of the leading civil rights attorneys in the country. She received her J.D. from Southern University Law Center and soon became a voice for the voiceless, earning the American Bar Association National Pro Bono Coordinator of the Year Award in 1995. As Carol developed her civil rights career, she was soon thrust into the national spotlight because of her involvement in the infamous Jena Six case. Once Carol saw how racially corrupt the system in Jena was, she knew she needed to get involved. After her experience with the Jena Six case, Carol believes that God elevated her to a higher standard.

She took case after case of civil rights issues, including the 2008 Baron "Scooter" Pikes case and the 2014 shooting of 14 year-old Cameron Tillman. Carol has been named by the Congressional Black Caucus as one of the leading Civil Rights Attorneys for the 21st Century. She's been featured in news sources from CNN, The New York Times and Aljazeera to Dr. Phil, Newsweek, and Essence. A woman of great faith, Carol believes her faith is the anchor that allows her to be successful in the important work that she has dedicated her life to. She knows that the system can railroad people if they don't have someone to stand up for them. That's why she has dedicated her career to making sure that all people are treated fairly. She puts her heart and soul into each of her cases, ensuring that her clients receive the most favorable outcome possible and that they always know they have someone in their corner.

In 2009, Ted was appointed to serve as Special Counsel to the Secretary of the Louisiana Department of Revenue where he was charged with developing the Department's legislative strategy. His leadership led to an appointment by Governor Bobby Jindal to serve on the Louisiana Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations where he effectively managed relationships with other governmental agencies to further the well-being of the people of Louisiana. In November of 2011, Ted James was elected to serve as Louisiana State Representative for District 101. CLEO FIELDS

Born in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, on November 22, 1962, Cleo was one of 10 children of Isidore Fields, a dockworker, and Alice Fields, a maid. Isidore died after falling asleep behind the wheel of his car on his way home from working a double shift. Poverty became a way of life for four-year-old Cleo, as the Fields household struggled to make ends meet. "I didn't know what poor was," Cleo Fields later recalled, "I thought mommas were supposed to put three patches in a pair of pants. In junior high school, it really hit me in the face. That's when I realized what my mother was going through". At one point, the family was evicted from a Baton Rouge apartment. Throughout his youth, Fields worked several jobs to aid his family, taking a shift at a fast food restaurant and working at the Baton Rouge mayor's office of youth opportunity to save money for college.

After graduating from McKinley High School (1980) in Baton Rouge, Fields attended cross-town Southern University, earning his bachelors and law degrees (1984). Politics became his passion. In his early law school years, he began circulating bumper stickers to classmates that read, "I'm waiting for Cleo Fields." Fields noted, "I didn't know what office I would run for, so I didn't want to be too specific." In 1987, Fields obtained his law degree from the Southern University Law Center. Upon completion of law school, Fields was elected to the Louisiana State Senate at the age of 24. He became the youngest person ever elected to the State Senate in Louisiana's history and at that time, the youngest in the nation.

In 1992, Fields was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives, representing Louisiana's 4th Congressional district. At the age of 29, Fields was the youngest member of the 103rd Congress. In 1993, he created a Congressional Classroom for elementary through secondary school-age students. Noted for being the first of its kind in the country, the Congressional Classroom helped students develop leadership and self-esteem while understanding the governmental process. It is known today as the Louisiana Leadership Institute.

In 1995, he made a bid for Governor of Louisiana, leaving a historical mark by becoming the first African American since reconstruction to make the runoff. He then went on to complete two terms as Congressman. On December 13, 1997, Fields returned to the 14th Senatorial District of Louisiana and served until 2008. On October 12, 2019, Fields was re-elected to the 14th Senatorial District of Louisiana, making history again by becoming the first person in Louisiana to return to the Senate for the third time.

Fields is a member of the Mt. Pilgrim Missionary Baptist Church. He is married to Debra and they have two sons, Brandon and Christopher.

She is an active member of her sorority, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, and enjoyed her time as an active member of Jack and Jill of America.

"Dawn and I owe so much not only to Southern University but also to the communities that nurtured us," Mark Malveaux said. "This gift is a tribute to a great university and the people who have committed themselves to uplift, including my amazing economics professor, the late Dr. Fred Temple. The gift is also a recognition of our parents and those aunts and uncles who did not have the opportunity to complete high school. They sacrificed much for my generation and set an example of humble dignity."

College of Business Advisory Council

The purpose of the Advisory Council is to serve as a liaison between the College of Business at Southern University and the business community. In addition to providing advice to the Dean and faculty, the AC works to advance the financial capacity of the College of Business through active engagement of alumni and business partners. Along with Dr. Donald Andrews, Dean of the College of Business, the Executive Committee members of the Advisory Council and some of the Committee's current initiatives are listed and discussed below.

COMMITTEE OF 150 – A dedicated group of 150 alumni, business partners, and friends who use their time and resources to support the mission of the College of Business. Our goal is for each committee member to donate a minimum of $1,000 per year, to provide a reliable funding source to ensure the College of Business (in conjunction with Pell Grants and other financial assistance) has the ability to offer competitive “Full Ride” scholarships to high performing Top Jag students. Our annual goal is $150,000. $120,000 will provide scholarships for 60 students and $30,000 for faculty and staff development. This initiative is led by George Rogers, Jr., David Anderson, Lester Pourciau, Authur Signater, and Alton Smith.
